BULLETIN

At about the half-way mark in the roll-call voting, R. J. Thomas and Walter Reuther were almost neck-and-neck in their race for president of the CIO Auto Workers union. An unofficial tabulation showed Reuther leading, 2,242 to 2,218, at 2 o'clock (EST). The Associated Press reported.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27.—Walter Reuther and R. J. Thomas were running almost neck-and-neck in their fight for the presidency of the CIO United Auto Workers today when about one-fourth of the votes had been cast.

By The Associated Press

Reuther was leading shortly after 1 p. m. (EST) by an unofficial count of 1,007 to 981. Reuther, red-haired leader of the General Motors strike, got a bigger ovation than Thomas when formally nominated for president.

By The Associated Press

What looked to be about a two-thirds majority of the 1,877 delegates rose and paraded around the hall for Reuther. Reuther was grinning broadly and chewing gum on the stage. Thomas, running for re-election, sat with a grim look on his face. On the basis of the Reuther and Thomas demonstrations, Reuther's election appeared likely in the lengthy roll-call vote which was to be taken this afternoon. But it was impossible to say positively how the balloting would come out, because the delegates have anywhere from one to eight votes, depending on the size of their locals.

Black Market Blamed As Ohio Packers Stop Processing Beef

By The Associated Press
Two major Columbus packing houses have suspended beef processing operations and two others are considering such action because of what company officials describe as black market operations as "impossible" to curb "as enforcing prohibition."

"Black market" beef operators have bid the live cattle market up to where it is unprofitable for legitimate packing houses to slaughter beef and stay within OPA ceilings," said J. Fred Schmidt, vice president of the J. Fred Schmidt Packing Co.

Schmidt and officials of the David Davies Packing Co. said that except for an occasional head for sausage, slaughtering of beef had been discontinued at their plants.

Heads of the Herman Falter Packing Co. and of the Columbus Packing Co. reported they had just about reached that stage, while a Swift & Co. spokesman said the Columbus plant was killing less than 25 per cent of capacity in beef and added:

"Black market operations in Ohio have become increasingly worse in the past few months. There are several factors for the beef shortage but the predominant one is black market."

"Tell Us," Says OPA
Millon J. Rappoport, OPA enforcement attorney for the southern and central Ohio district, commented that "packers who complain of black market operations would save time and help us help them if they would bring their complaints into our office."

Elsewhere in Ohio, beef production was reported light but there was some question as to the reason for the decline. At Toledo, some packers said black market meat traffic in the area was heavier than at any time during the war; others discounted such reports.

All livestock receipts at the Toledo Union stock yards remained light.

Packer spokesmen at Cincinnati estimated beef production was off about 20 per cent, pork about 40 per cent.

AGENT CAUGHT AS HE BOARDS SOVIET SHIP

Had Plans of U. S. Destroyer
Tender; To Face Charges of Espionage.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The state department was kept fully informed about FBI activities which led to seizure of a young Russian naval officer on charges of espionage, Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today.

The 29-year-old Soviet officer, Lt. Nikolai Gregorovich Redin, was arrested last night in Portland, Ore., just as he was about to board a Russian vessel which was preparing to sail home.

Redin was accused of seeking plans and information regarding the U. S. Yellowstone, a destroyer tender and one of the newest of the Navy's warships. A naval officer said at San Francisco last night that the vessel was scheduled to take part in the Pacific atom bomb tests.

Spokesmen for the joint Army-Navy task force conducting "Operations Crossroad" said in Washington today, however, the Yellowstone was not one of the ships to be used in the experiment.

To Join Eastern Fleet
The Yellowstone, the Navy said, is scheduled to leave Puget sound about March 31, proceed through the Panama canal and join the Atlantic fleet.

At the state department, meanwhile, it was said in response to a query that Redin did not have diplomatic immunity—the special status exempting foreign diplomatic representatives from the application of United States laws. Acheson told a news conference that the justice department kept the state department fully posted on the developments but would not further discuss the arrest of Redin, a member of the Soviet purchasing commission at Seattle.

On Capitol Hill, Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) of the house committee on un-American activities also declined after a committee session to discuss Redin's arrest. He did announce, however, that a committee representative would confer with Canadian officials "with respect to any interlocking activities" between the alleged Russian espionage there and reported attempts to obtain American atomic bomb secrets.

Hearings Are Set
Wood also disclosed that the committee would conduct hearings within two weeks in its investigation of reports that spies had been at work in this country.

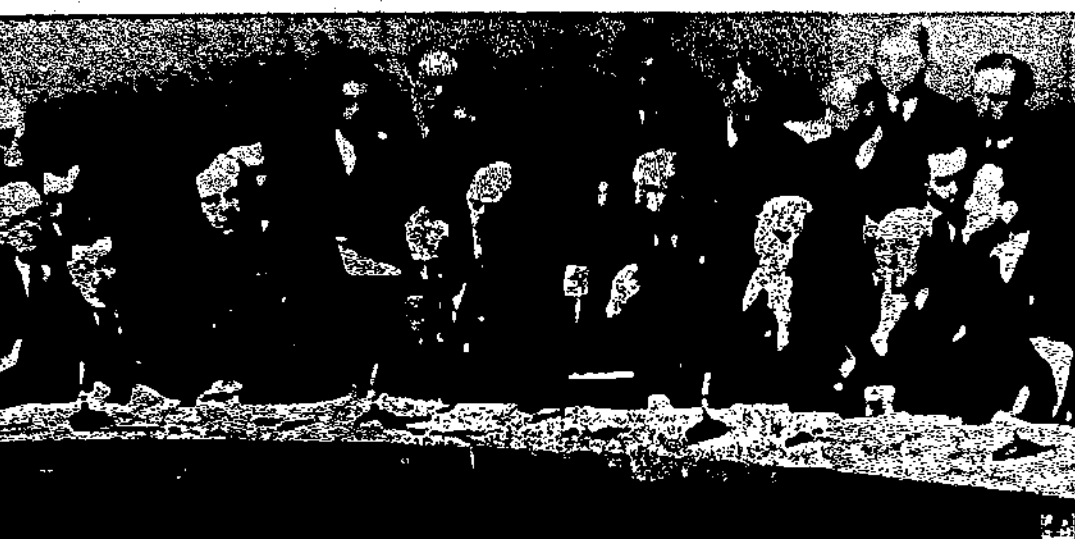

Committee Counsel Ernie Adamson, who said the group had a pretty fair knowledge of the Redin case, told reporters one of the hearings probably would be held in Seattle. The formal charge against Redin was disclosed last night at Portland by Assistant FBI Agent Julius A. Bernard, after Hoover announced last night in Washington that the Soviet officer had been taken into custody.

Arraigned in Uniform
Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Robert A. Leedy, the Soviet officer, wearing the uniform of his rank, was ordered held in Multnomah County jail in default of $25,000 bond until another hearing is set.

Redin, a graduate of the Russian naval academy who came to this country four years ago, had been under "intensive FBI scrutiny" for several months, Hoover said in Washington.

There was no immediate clear-cut answer to the No. 1 question posed by the arrest: Could atomic bomb secrets be involved? At Portland, Bernard said Redin was charged with obtaining information about the U.S.S. Yellowstone for use and advantage of a foreign nation, to wit the U.S.S.R. and had "induced another to obtain plans, documents and writings" relating to a warship of the U. S. Navy.

Nature of Charge
Bernard said the charge accused Redin of action "against the peace and dignity of the United States of America."

CIO Industrial Union Council Indorses New School Program

Revised Building Plans Win Approval of Group After Report Is Made by Committee.

The Marion Industrial Union Council last night approved Marion's revised school building program. Indorsement of the program was made at a regular meeting of the council after its school committee, headed by James Jenkins, reported on measures considered under the $2,100,000 school building plan. The vote was "practically unanimous," according to O. W. Mather, council publicity chairman.

Present were 28 council members and delegates from all local CIO unions in the city. Mr. Oiler said delegates of the locals would take the recommendations of the council back to their own organizations.

The $2,100,000 bond issue to finance the revised school program will come before voters at the May primaries. The revised program replaces a measure which was defeated in the general election last fall by 23 votes.

Included in the building plans are the remodeling and reconditioning of the Silver Street and Oak Street schools, the construction of a new junior high school on North State street, a new junior-senior high school on the athletic field site, a community

Chamber of Commerce Blasts Subsidies To Speed Housing

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Housing Boss Wilson W. Wyatt's renewed plea for subsidies to spur the output of scarce building materials bumped into opposition today from the United States Chamber of Commerce.

A statement by the Chamber's board of directors said "we do not believe the highly controversial subsidy proposal should be reinstated" in the measure designed to provide 2,700,000 new homes by the end of next year.

The Chamber indorsed the bill passed by the house, saying in a statement prepared for the senate banking committee that it gives Wyatt "ample authority."

House OKs Fund
Elsewhere on the housing front, the house by a vote of 253 to 1 sent to the senate a $253,727,000 emergency appropriation bill. It provides funds for the Civilian Production Administration and other agencies to carry out the administration's housing program for the balance of the current fiscal year.

Meanwhile, the CPA rushed to get its new regional offices operating in 71 key cities to administer and police the far-reaching construction controls announced yesterday.

In another rapid follow-up, the agency was expected to grant "reconversion priorities" today to help manufacturers of scarce building materials obtain needed machinery and equipment.

This action would permit makers of all 13 of the critically scarce materials and supplies to expand their operations and thus speed up home building.

POWERS FAIL TO MAKE DEAL IN UNO CRISIS

Special Committee Gives Up
After Hour and Half; One Way Out Seen.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 27.—The United Nations security council's subcommittee, appointed to find a compromise formula in the Iranian case, adjourned after meeting an hour and a half today with the announcement that "no agreement has yet been reached."

Secretary of State Byrnes would make no statement. He referred reporters to Forster McKeever, press attache of the American delegation, who said he had been authorized to say:

"No agreement has been reached yet. The meeting is over."

The subcommittee, made up of U. S., French and Russian representatives, will report to the chairman of the council this afternoon.

Secretary of state Byrnes, Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet went into session shortly after 11 o'clock to try to reach some decision.

One Way Seen
One possible way out of the difficulty which American officials appeared willing to accept was a proposal that Iran Ambassador Hussein Ala should be called by the security council merely to present his views on whether his government would suffer if the Iranian case were delayed as Russia demands, until April 10th.

Even this, however, may not be acceptable to Gromyko, whose instructions from Moscow evidently call for him to get a delay or else boycott all council meetings at which the Iranian subject is discussed with an Iranian representative participating.

If Russia persists in his absolute refusal to agree to hear any statement of Ala and if the United States is equally adamant about allowing him to speak, then it appeared almost certain that Russia would be out-voted in today's full council session, that Ala would be invited, and that Gromyko might then either walk out of the meeting or absent himself at any sessions at which Ala appeared.

Under Orders
The Iranian delegation leader, Hussein Ala, insisted last night that his government still had him under instructions to press its protests that Red army troops had oversteered their post-war occupation limit, despite a Russian contention that a mutual agreement had been reached with Tehran and that Soviet troops were withdrawing.

Gromyko lost the first round in the council session when his motion to delete the Iranian issue from the proposed agenda was defeated 9-2. Poland alone supported Russia. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's proposed four-item agenda then was adopted with Russia and Poland again dissenting.

Having lost the first battle on procedure to majority forces led by Secretary Byrnes and Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, Gromyko responded with a proposal that the Iranian charges be put over for discussion April 10.

Was To Wait
The Russian delegate said he could not, before that date, "participate or attend meetings of the security council in which the substance of matters raised by the Iranian government."

Byrnes again argued for an immediate hearing of Iran, declaring that the Iranian delegation was present and should be given the opportunity to testify.

Bonnet broke up the long, heated debate with a proposal to refer the next step to a sub-committee. The vote was announced as nine

Review of Plays Features Dinner of Marion Groups

BROADWAY came to Marion last evening when Cleo Dawson Smith, of Lexington, Ky., a reviewer of plays, sketched current New York shows and presented a review of Tennessee Williams' prize-winning play, "The Glass Menagerie," before members of the Marion Association of University Women and their guests at Hotel Harding.

Joining the hostess for the program were members of the Marion Altrusa club of which the speaker is a member, patrons of the University Women's group and guests.

Attendance at a program given by Mrs. Smith, who is a frequent guest speaker here, is a must on the calendar of those interested in the stage, and last night's review was no exception. Her brilliant interpretation of the ambitious mother, Amanda, her shy daughter and wander-loving son, left nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment.

Adding to the evening's pleasure and coming as a surprise to the hostess group and their guests was the appearance on the program of Dr. Harlan Tarbell of Chicago, internationally known magician, mental scientist, author and teacher of magic. Dr. Tarbell, who is just completing a book on magic, stopped in Marion to confer with Mrs. Smith regarding a manuscript for his new book. His book of five volumes on magic, containing more than 1,100 illustrations on magic has won the acclaim of magicians throughout the world and he is actively interested in the development of eyesight vision at Avon, Conn.

"We are just on the edge of a new era in this scientific development and as yet do not know just what can be done," he believes. His tricks of magic last evening included the identification of many articles, such as social security cards, certificates of title, membership and personal cards and disclosing names and other information written on them, while blindfolded.

Mrs. Smith, who believes there is only one theater and "that is life," referred to 1946 as a momentous year both on the stage and in the lives of the people.

In sketching current plays she catalogued "Life With Father" as still being the great American classic, and named herself as the one and only living soul who doesn't like "Curious," but added the music is lovely. "The Voice of the Turtle," "Song of Norway," and other productions were recommended as "not to be missed" as top theater fare.

The program hour was preceded by a dinner at which covers were placed for 150 members and guests. Snappagons in attractive arrangements and huckleberry sauce decorated the table, which were lighted with tall tapers. Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, president of the University Women's association, presided and presented Miss Mary Florence Schuler, president of the Altrusa club, and Miss Ruth Kramer, vice president of Altrusa International.

District Session Set by P.T.A. at Galion

GALION, March 27—Galion will be host this spring for the annual conference of the North Central District of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers. The meeting will be held April 8, at Senior High school auditorium. Dr. Joseph Miller, national chairman of mental hygiene, will be speaker. Mrs. Ralph Pollock of Galion is director of the district.

Announcement of the conference was made Wednesday evening at the March meeting of the Galion City P.T.A. Council. The conference program was presented by M. A. Povenmire, superintendent of schools.

Miss Lucy Ailer, health nurse and attendance teacher, reported on the annual pre-school conference in May for children who will start to school next fall.

Another report was given by Mrs. Gerald Bosler.

HOUSING

stringent enough to release materials for the 2,700,000-home goal set by President Truman.

The order forbids the start of any construction or repairs—except small jobs running from $400 to $15,000—for an industrial plant—without express approval of one of the new field offices.

In reiterating his plea for $800,000,000 in subsidies, Wyatt told the banking committee yesterday that even with such "premium payments" he was afraid home building costs are going to go up some more.

Says It's Cheaper

Wyatt pitched his subsidy argument on the ground that the alternative—raising the price of scarce materials in general—would cost the public five times as much as the benefit payments.

But the Chamber of Commerce said it was opposed to the use of subsidies "as a price control device."

"Subsidies conceal inflation and establish, in a sense, dishonest prices," the Chamber statement said. "By maintaining prices at artificially low levels they tend to accentuate shortages by creating still further lack of balance between supply and demand. They are open to administrative abuses. They place a premium on inefficiency and tend to freeze high cost. They are an expense to the U. S. treasury and thus add further to the budgetary deficit. This is not the way to help the veteran."

Ohio Pledges Aid in Housing Program

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—The federal government today had Ohio's pledge of cooperation in its campaign to restrict most building operations to residential properties.

Gov. Frank Lausche said yesterday the state would cooperate "within the limits of its power" with the new federal building regulations.

Lausche said the state department of industrial relations issued permits for construction or repair of commercial building or apartments of five or more units and that such building could not be constructed if permits were withheld.

The governor emphasized that construction already approved by the department would not be affected by the federal ban.

U. S. Searches Jap Diplomats for Loot

URUGA, JAPAN, March 27—A surprise American search for an estimated $5,000,000 cache of currency and jewels turned the homecoming of some of Japan's top European diplomats into a highly polished game of cops and robbers today.

Assets valued at several thousand dollars—most of which was believed to belong to the Japanese government—were discovered in the first stages of a search of the 336 passengers on the repatriation ship Tsukushi Maru.

Maj. J. V. Duff, military government officer of the Eighth army, said he had received reports that the diplomats were carrying cash, jewelry and securities that might be worth $5,000,000.

"A large portion of this is assets of the Japanese government which the government had ordered the diplomats to turn in for reparations," Duff said.

COAL

Users' next week, in line with the miners' traditional refusal to work without a contract.

Lewis insisted he was not calling a strike, and he cited figures to indicate that coal stockpiles are sufficient to meet industrial needs unless the contract negotiations are protracted.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the coal operators negotiating committee, told a news conference Lewis had refused to discuss wage and hour demands until the operators accepted the "principle" of a health and welfare fund for the coal miners.

The "principle" O'Neill continued, was rejected by the operators. Under Lewis' proposal, it would have been based on an assessment for all coal produced, to be paid by the industry and administered by the union.

Calls It "Mumbo-Jumbo"

Lewis told reporters that a six-point proposal offered by the operators as a basis for continuing negotiations was "mumbo-jumbo." High on this list was an offer of approximately 18½ cents an hour wage increase, which the operators said was in accord with recent pay boosts granted by the steel, oil and automobile industries.

As a compromise on the health and welfare fund issue, the operators proposed setting up a joint committee to work out a plan of contributions by miners and operators to a fund which would be used to "mitigate unusual hardships" resulting from mine accidents.

Ohio Region's Miners Await Lewis Call

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—Approximately 20,000 members of the United Mine Workers' District 6, embracing Ohio and four counties of West Virginia, would be affected if John L. Lewis called upon his miners to take a "rest" beginning April 1.

The union's contract with bituminous coal operators expires at midnight Sunday.

Most of the Ohio miners are employed in nine counties—Belmont, Harrison, Athens, Hocking, Muskingum, Perry, Jefferson, Guernsey and Tuscarawas.

John Owens, UMW district president, estimated 48,000,000 tons of coal now lay above ground in the district. Ohio consumes 65,000,000 tons annually, he said, and produces 33,000,000 tons annually.

While declining to predict how soon a halt in coal production would cripple Ohio industries, he said that an extended stoppage would "paralyze everything."

Caledonia Residents Injured in Accident

Miss Annabelle Pommer, 23, and Mrs. Robert Bayles, both of Caledonia, were admitted to City hospital suffering from minor cuts and bruises resulting from an automobile accident yesterday at 5:40 p. m. at the intersection of routes 98 and 30-south. They were taken to the hospital in the M. H. Gunder and Sons ambulance.

A car driven by Miss Pommer, in which Mrs. Bayles was riding, and a truck driven by Richard Lauer, 67, of Coschocton collided at the intersection, state highway patrolmen said, when Lauer attempted to turn off route 30 into 98 just as Miss Pommer's car rounded a nearby curve. Both vehicles were damaged.

DES MOINES, March 27—Oren O. Burgess, 39, Moline, Ill., who served 18 months in the Polk county jail and the Iowa State penitentiary for a taxicab driver's holdup which he claimed he didn't do, today was a free man and back with his two motherless sons, Dickie, 10, and Johnnie, 7.

Last week a jury, following a retrial on the holdup charge, acquitted Burgess after a Rock Island railroad conductor testified he saw Burgess on a train the night of the holdup.

Judge Tom K. Murrow, on recommendation of the county attorney, yesterday dismissed charges of assault with intent to rob a grocer the same night as the holdup.

If I live to be a hundred," Burgess declared with grin, "I'll never forget this day."

Mrs. Ginder Funeral Rites Set for Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Viola Ginder, 73, of 188 Silver street, will be conducted Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Mary Catholic church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery at Galion. Mrs. Ginder died in City hospital Tuesday. Her birthdate was June 15, 1872.

Instead of 1871 as given in a report of her death in last night's Star. Survivors include a son by a former marriage, Lloyd Decker of Mt. Morris, Mich., and a stepson, Willard Ginder of Park boulevard, whose name was overlooked in the report of her death given yesterday.

WHERE KURDISH TRIBES ARE ON THE WARPATH

THE MOUNTAINOUS AREAS that rim the borders of Iran, Iraq and Turkey (indicated by shaded area on map) have become a new arena of trouble as Kurdish tribes attack Iranian towns and maintain a siege of border cities just below Lake Urmia. While the Iranian government in Tehran was reported calling all 19-year-olds into service, strict secrecy surrounds recent diplomatic and military developments. (International)

Overhaul Job

DEAN ARTHUR T. VANDERBILT, above, of New York University Law school, has been named as chairman of the civilian board of nine prominent law experts selected by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson to overhaul the Army's court-martial procedure. One of the board's jobs will be to rid the court procedures of alleged favoring of officers—another "caste system" abuse damaging Army morale. (International)

SO THE COPS CAUGHT UP TO HIM

NO FACE COVERING for Larry Bradt (right), a cab driver, when the Chicago cops grabbed him, with Frank Cunningham (left) following an attempted $375,000 robbery of Reynolds International Pen Co., in which a policeman also figured. Tripping over a burglar alarm, the would-be bandits literally walked into the arms of the police. Said Bradt, "I don't know from nuttin'" as he struck a defiant pose. (International)

HE'S "NOT" IN THE ARMY NOW

EX-ARMY CAPTAIN, John S. Cholewinaki, Purple Heart veteran of four years in the Pacific, is shown on his new job as street sweeper for New York City's department of sanitation. The war hero, who married following his discharge, found, that although he had a degree in mechanical engineering, he could not obtain steady employment. Cholewinaki, wounded in the same blast of enemy fire that killed Gen. Simon B. Buckner on Okinawa, comments, "I had been on the civil service list before I went into the Army, and I know that was permanent, at least. So here I am." (International)

SEALION SMACKS ITS MISTRESS--THAT'S GRATITUDE

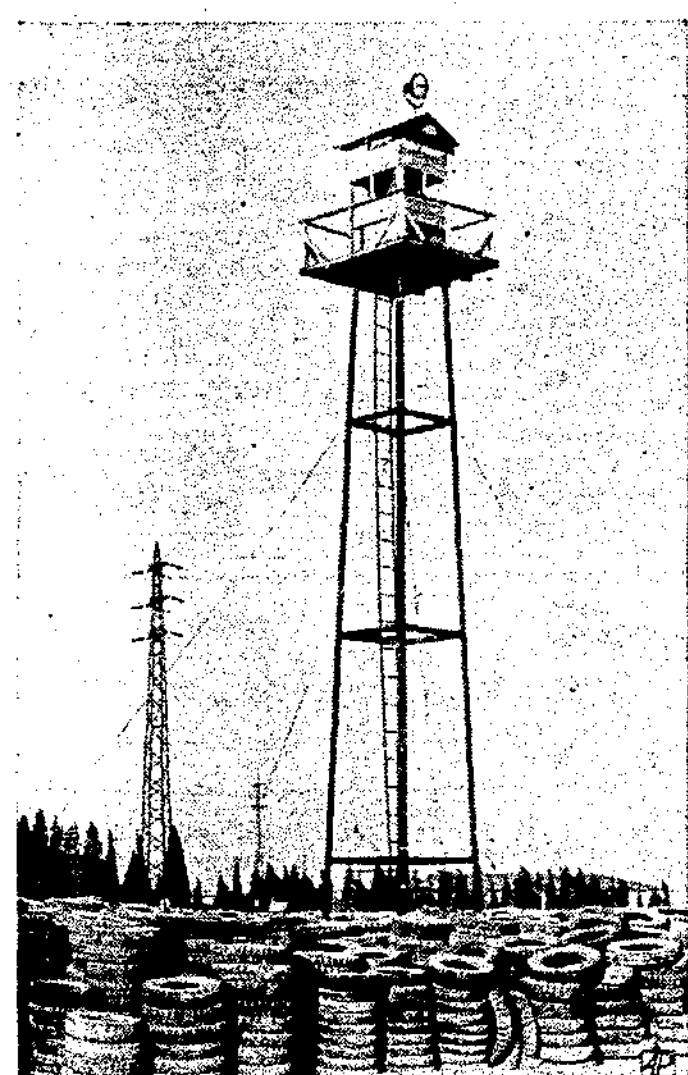

AN AILING SEALION shows Mrs. Ruby Bigelow of Redondo Beach, Cal., its thanks by planting a smacking kiss. Mrs. Bigelow found the animal on the beach near her home, where it had been left by small boys, and nursed it back to health, only to have the be-whiskered lion refuse to return to the ocean. Result is, Mrs. Bigelow now has a pet. (International Soundphoto)

UNO PICKETS ARRESTED

HERDED TOGETHER by police are four of the nine men arrested following a demonstration in front of a New York hotel, where a reception was being given by Edward Stettinius, Jr., permanent U. DRAFT NOTE, APRIL 9
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The senate military committee today set April 9 as the deadline for vote on whether to extend the draft law and, if so, for how long. A unanimous, informal agreement on this procedure brought expressions of satisfaction from members contending both for and against a year's extension of Selective Service, now due to expire May 13.

VULTURE MEETS PLANE and this happens—chicken proves it.

By The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS—The Civil Aeronautics Administration's experimental station here has gone into the artificial hailstone business along with pelting airplane windshields with dead chickens.
The idea is to find out how much punishment the laminated glass and plastic can take before it gives way and lets a piece of ice or a vulture smack the pilot in the face.
Birds have caused many plane accidents, especially in taking off, landing, and flying low over mountain ranges.
So far, only one commercial plane has a windshield that meets the CAA ideal. A four-pound bird, hitting the shield at the ship's cruising speed, just bounces off. Thin electrical wires that keep the glass-plastic sandwich warm have a great deal to do with its resistance. Cold makes windshields brittle.

A giant air gun flings fowls and other objects against the windshields with velocities up to 500 miles an hour. A special "sub-caliber" barrel will be used in the hailstone tests which will begin soon. The stones, two inches in diameter, will be frozen in steel molds.
Dr. George Pigman, in charge of the tests, has ruined a lot of windshields—and birds—in the course of the program. The fowls, ranging from small chickens up to 16-pound turkeys, are killed with electricity before they are fired from the 20-foot, five-inch barrel. They're stuffed in cloth sacks to keep feathers from flying all over.

ADJUSTER FOR CROP INSURANCE NAMED
R. Earl Drake of New Bloomington Appointed.
R. Earl Drake of New Bloomington Route 1 has been appointed crop insurance adjuster for Marion county by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.
Mr. Drake's duty will be to adjust all crop insurance losses in the county. There are approximately 200 farms which carry wheat insurance.
When wheat is insured under federal all-risk insurance, and it becomes apparent it may not pay to leave it stand, the grower must notify the county AAA office so the condition of the crop can be appraised by Mr. Drake before it is disked or plowed. If the crop is appraised as a total loss, the insured will be paid at the rate of 50 per cent of the insured production, and the operator saves the cost of harvesting and has the land available for another crop.
Applications for all-risk crop insurance on the 1947, 1948 and 1949 wheat crops can now be made at the county AAA office.

LACK OF TEACHERS PREDICTED NEXT FALL
Mills Forecasts Difficulty in Filling Positions.
Difficulty in meeting teacher needs in the Marion county school system next fall was predicted today by D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools.
Although many service men and women are expected to return to teaching jobs, there still will not be an abundance of available teachers for the county schools, Mr. Mills said.
At present there are more applications for high school teaching jobs than for elementary. There is a scarcity of agriculture teachers throughout the state. Mr. Mills added. He said, however, it is still too early to know how many teaching jobs will be open this fall.

Australia's wool industry began in 1793 when 30 sheep arrived from Calcutta, and a few English sheep were brought from Ireland.

Relief At Last For Your Cough
Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel gum laden phlegm and aid nature in soothing and healing inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Sore Throat

FEW people realize it, but there is one type of sore throat to be practically the same thing. It is known as hemolytic streptococcal sore throat and, according to Dr. Lowell A. Rantz of San Francisco, there is no essential difference between this illness and scarlet fever.

Both are caused by the same germs, the hemolytic streptococci. Both are serious illnesses. Both come on suddenly. In both, the patient usually has high fever.

The throat picture is the same in each—redness and swelling of the tonsils and other parts of the throat, with swelling and tenderness of the lymph glands in the neck. The same thing is true of the blood. In both diseases, there is an increase in the blood's white cell count.

Almost the only difference lies in the fact that within 12 to 36 hours after the onset of the illness, some patients develop a rash over most of the body. Others do not.

The ones that develop the rash are said to have scarlet fever. Generally they are likely to be more ill than those who have the sister-disease, hemolytic streptococcal sore throat without the rash.

There is still a third group of patients who have a streptococcal infection of the throat who do not become very ill. In fact they may be unaware that the disease is present and only learn of it late when complications may occur.

Dr. Rantz believes that one out of every five cases of streptococcal infection of the upper air passages, that is, in the nose or throat, develops one or more complications. These he divides into two classes—those which suppurate (lead to pus formation) and those which do not.

Examples of the former are infections of the middle ear, known as otitis media, which may go on to mastoid involvement and enlargement of the lymph glands of the neck, known as cervical adenitis.

Examples of those complications which do not suppurate, known as non-suppurative, are chronic infections of the throat in which there is a slight daily temperature rise, and general weakness which may last for weeks or even months; kidney disease known as acute nephritis, which also may last for weeks; heart disease, usually without joint involvement, and seldom associated with a rash.

When the heart becomes involved, evidence of this may be obtained by having an electrocardiogram made. An electrocardiogram is simply an electrical tracing of the heart beat.

We must remember, however, that there are times when the joints do become swollen following a streptococcal throat infection. When we mention swollen

TARDY LIQUOR MEN CHIDED BY LAUSCHE

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 27—Executives of the state liquor department have to start getting to work on time, Gov. Frank J. Lausche declared yesterday.

He so advised Director Robert J. Sohngen after a local newspaper reported that of nine officials it tried to reach at 10:30 a. m. Monday, only one was in his office. Employees report for work at 8:15.

"I told him (Sohngen) that if that abuse existed," the governor informed news men, "it's got to be stopped."

Lausche said he had no control over the four members of the liquor control board, none of whom was reported in yesterday. The board had no hearings scheduled yesterday.

"I have told the employees to report on time," Sohngen asserted. As for myself—and he was one of the officials absent—the director remarked:

"I am not there on Mondays and the governor knows it. I have business to attend to in my own home town (Hamilton) on Mondays."

Of the other executives, Sohngen said he didn't expect them to report exactly on time on Mondays so long as they were giving "loyal service" and putting in many hours of overtime. He added that some of his assistants had homes out of the city and found it difficult to return to Columbus by 8:15 a. m. Monday.

He said that some executives frequently worked until 10 o'clock at night.

Ex-GI Students Shun Barracks Homes at OSU

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 27—Ohio State university student-war veterans are tired of barracks life, which is why they're shunning the Port Columbus naval facility dormitory which the school acquired to house 700 of them, the ex-GI's explain.

The bachelor officer quarters at the facility were snatched up immediately by 100 veterans, but the three enlisted men's barracks have only 25 occupants despite the school's record 14,313 enrollment and a severe housing shortage.

STUDY REVISION OF SCHOOL GRADE PLAN

County Educational Committee Meets with D. T. Mills.

Plans to revise the system of grading in Marion county schools were discussed at a meeting of the educational committee in the office of D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools Tuesday night.

The revised system would better define what a grade stands for, Supt. Mills said, and would better interpret a student's progress for his parents and community. Mr. Mills added it also would help to promote a uniform understanding of the meaning of grades, so that a grade in one school would mean the same as in another.

Recommendations of the committee will be submitted to school officials at a meeting April 15. Members of the educational committee include Mr. Mills and the following school superintendents: E. E. Banning of Pleasant, Orin McGlone of Caledonia, Virgil Brigel of Prospect, Ralph Hewes of Waldo, Arthur Lane of Meeker, Paul Kuhlman of Scott and Orval Utry of Green Camp.

REAMS ASKS CHECK ON OLD AGE TRUST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—State Welfare Director Frazier Reams pressed State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today for a checkup of the $20,000,000 worth of bank accounts, insurance policies, and real estate deeds held in trust for old age pensioners by the state.

In a letter recalling that he first had requested an audit early in 1945, Reams said he felt that Ferguson was "overlooking the great importance of this matter both to the citizens of Ohio and to the recipients of aid for the aged."

Under the Aid for the Aged act which started old age pensions in July 1934, recipient must deposit bank books, insurance policies, real estate deeds, stocks and bonds, and other property and valuables with the state. After his death the properties are balanced against the amount he has received in pensions and any remainder is given to his family or other heirs.

I. M. Lamoreaux, pension chief, said the fund now totaled $20,534,673, with assessed value of real estate accounting for $12,523,227. Other items include life insurance policies with a face value of $5,652,829, bank accounts totaling $1,931,222, certificates of claim for $131,225, notes receivable for $146,742, stocks and bonds worth $84,170, and miscellaneous items totaling $8,170.

Reams said an audit probably would have to be made in each of the 88 county offices. No official statement on the probable cost was available, but the best estimates centered around $75,000.

Ohio Eyes Change In Vocational Courses

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—An effort to recast Ohio's vocational education—schooling of boys and girls for specific trades and skills—for peace after five years of war will get under way here Friday in a "workshop" meeting of teachers and supervisors.

Dr. Clyde Hilson, state education director, said today that questions to be discussed in the day-long series of conferences of school administrators, supervisors, and vocational teachers would include:

"Have the objectives of business, industry and the farm changed? Will we enjoy new products and services in the years ahead? Will new materials, improved methods of production and distribution affect our homes, our schools, our communities?"

"Mom and Dad" Film Banned After Protest

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—"Mom and Dad," billed as a sex education motion picture, has been banned throughout Ohio and recalled for review by the Ohio board of censors at the request of Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Lausche's request followed a long distance telephone conversation with the Rev. M. R. Frey, chairman of the Defiance, O., Committee of Protestants which reviewed the picture and voted against its public showing.

The governor said he was told that "behind the false mask of being educational," the picture actually exploited sex "to the commercial advantage of the exhibitors."

At Defiance, Rev. Frey said Lausche had stated the picture passed the Ohio censorship board in December 1944, a week before Lausche's inauguration.

The governor said the picture previously had been exhibited in Logan and Springfield.

Bricker Hits Federal Medical Care Plan

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 27—John W. Bricker, former governor of Ohio, believes "no greater bulwark could be built against government encroachment" than extension of the hospital care plan into the field of medical and surgical service.

Bricker, speaking to the National Blue Cross convention here last night, endorsed extension of the plan declaring that the government "with its socialized medicine program would do irreparable harm to scientific development and improvement of the medical profession."

40 Ohio Dependents To Sail for Europe

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27—Forty Ohio wives and children will be among the first contingent of servicemen's dependents to sail next month to join their soldier breadwinners in the European theater of operations.

Only 24 enlisted men were among the 700 applicants for transportation in April, the department said, attributing the small number to uncertainty over future assignments, facilities available for dependents and large numbers of reenlistment bonuses.

The total of 1,200 dependents are scheduled to leave about the middle of April.

Good Luck, Gentlemen

CAREER diplomats are the bulk of the UNO Security Council membership, which is either a good or a bad omen, depending on what orders they are bearing from their respective governments.

If the orders are a true reflection of popular support for the ideal of a world organization capable of giving common people of all lands security against war, career diplomats should have the skill to carry them out.

But if career diplomats have been chosen only for their ability to perform the party and thrust of diplomacy—to keep up appearances for governments that have forgotten nothing and learned nothing from the deaths and sacrifices of millions in two world wars—the omen is bad.

It is said that this meeting of the Security Council will be decisive. UNO will be made or broken in the next few weeks. That will be said of many meetings, and it will be true. But more than the fate of UNO is hanging in the balance. The fate of institutions that have been forced to the brink of chaos twice in the first half of this century is being determined.

Among the institutions are governments themselves. They are being challenged by their inability as sovereignties to protect their peoples from the common peril of war. The UNO, whatever may be its shortcomings, fulfills a dream of humanity for a common effort toward security. The delegates represent governments nominally. They represent people actually. They must not fail.

As Good a Name as Any

BERNARD M. BARUCH'S word "bunking," to describe what public officials are doing when they say wages can go up while prices stay down is as good a name as any—and more printable than most.

"Bunking," as used by Mr. Baruch, comes from the better known "bunk," sound American slang for nonsense. It is, of course, a full brother of "debunking." Oddly, in a country that specializes in the latter there is endless tolerance for the bunking that makes the debunking necessary.

Starting late last year and continuing until recently, a great many persons who knew better asserted that wage rates and hence production costs could be boosted to higher levels without causing prices to rise. It seems incredible now, by hindsight, but there actually was an argument over this absurd contention. The argument settled itself.

Wage rates are rising. So are prices. The relationship between them now is so well known and has been so widely demonstrated that no one pretends that they can be treated separately. Mr. Baruch is not disturbed about rising prices or rising wage rates, but only about non-rising production. Anything that interferes with production, he contends, is economic nonsense; i.e., bunk. Moreover, it is inflammable bunk, the kind that could blow the United States into fascism or communism.

Now We See It, Now We Don't

THERE is an evanescent quality about foreign loans when they are being discussed in Washington. Taxpayers feel like spectators in a magician's audience: now we see it, now we don't.

When the loans are being discussed by experts who are not responsible to the people, they are called something else—subsidies, payments on debts of gratitude and investments in international trade and good will. But when they are taken up by politicians who must go to the people for reelection, the loans are likely to be dealt with more harshly. There is down-to-earth talk about their cost, the interest they bear or do not bear, their relationship to the national debt and the fact they probably will not be repaid.

But if these disagreeable facts are brought to the attention of the experts, they say that to mention them is to be provincial and isolationist. They speak of international responsibility as a creditor nation and the importance of keeping up a free exchange of commodities. They speak of cartels, sterling blocs and good neighbors. It sounds convincing until some politician retorts that taxes are too high and no matter what fancy terms are used the United States pays the freight.

The people of the United States want their government to do the right thing about loans to other governments, but it must be admitted the government makes the decision no easier by its own confusion. Either these are loans to be paid back, or gifts. "Lend-lease," which was neither lending nor leasing, has given American taxpayers a special reason for wanting such things to bear honest labels.

News Behind the News
By PAUL MALLON

Purges and Penalties Disturb Democratic Peace.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The mud is getting thicker all the time.
Up rose the dubious Democrat, Commerce Secretary Wallace, to demand a commission of party leaders to discard nonconformists. This added a fresh top-layer of mire to the slippery Democratic condition, in a novel and surprising way, because Wallace made such a career out of being a non-conformist himself that the party would not have him again or vice president with Roosevelt, but chose Mr. Truman in his place. His proposal sounded as if the detached tail of the party had announced itself as the head and proposed to sever the body.

Hannegan Wades In
The matter got up to its knees in mud when party Chairman Hannegan added his portion to the Wallace layer—by denouncing "a minority of disident Democrats."

This came so soon after the Pauley fray, some interpreters thought the denunciation meant Hannegan wanted to purge the party of the supra-party forces which defeated his and Truman's bid for the under-secretaryship of navy—namely the Ickes-CIO-Pepper group which lives, acts and speaks above the party, sometimes with Wallace joining in (as when several of them opposed a Democrat and favored a Labor party candidate).

WAITING FOR A STREETCART

Add solution to the housing problem: In Chicago, 300 out-moded streetcars have been put up for auction.

Shortly now the Illinois metropolis will boast a new and different subdivision, Trolley Heights.

I can just see them now, row on row of ivy-covered love-nests, their headlights peering out from behind the morning glories.

How symbolical, at the end of a long, hard day, to turn one's steps homeward to old Number 987 and the end of the line.

Properly appurtenances, these transitory dwellings will offer all the traditional comforts of home—in say nothing of a long-needed innovation: the stenciled reminder, "To Open Door, Step on Treadle," to speed the parting guest.

Only one aspect of trolley life offers cause for apprehension. How frequently, one wonders, would you be awakened in the middle of the night by transfer-bearing lucubrations—demanding transportation home?

Baruch in New Role at 75

Man Who Tamed Money Tackles Atomic Power.

By NATRAN OATIS
Associated Press Writer
BERNARD M. BARUCH, 75, United States representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, is known as the man whose office is a park bench.

In the days when he was head of President Roosevelt's World War II rubber committee, starting in 1942, he used to hold conferences and frame policies on a bench in Lafayette Square, across the street from the White House. Such openness was characteristic. Baruch has shown a park sifter's temperament. He has been generous with many people and direct with some of them.

He has given away speculation—earned millions in philanthropies—for hospital, refugee relief, war work and economic studies, among other things.

And he admits that once, acting on a real man-to-man basis, he struck a man he'd seen abusing a cab driver on Fifth Avenue, New York. He hurt his right hand.

"I was damn fool enough to do it," he explains, "when I was 68 years old."

Graduated from City College in New York, he started on Wall Street as a brokerage clerk at $3 a week, studied statistics, began buying stocks and at 25 was made a partner in the brokerage firm he worked for.

He turned speculator, won the respect of John W. (Bet-a-Million) Gates and others and by the time he was 30 had gained and lost his first million.

Going into government work in the first World War, he sold his seat on the New York Stock Exchange and put most of his money into government bonds.

"There are two kinds of money," he said once. "The first is money that possesses man. The second is possessed by man. If money had possessed me, it would have been my master instead of my slave."

In World War I, as chairman of the War Industries Board, he himself paid for distribution of materials shipped there. In World War II, heading the rubber committee, he paid his staff out of his own pocket.

He gave away a million dollars at Christmas, 1942, in Army and Navy and refugee relief and other causes and less than a year and a half afterward he gave $1,100,000 to promote "physical medicine."

"It has always been easy for me to make money," he says. "Why shouldn't I give it away?"

Outweighed 'Em All

The heaviest man who ever lived was Daniel Lambert, who weighed 739 pounds when he died at the age of 59, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Although he led an active athletic life, he had a 102-inch waistline.

Air Power Takes a Dive

Engine Output Drops from 24,000 a Month to 23.

By JACK STINNETT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON—In the fall of 1913, the country was swamped with Liberty (airplane) engines. Fourteen years later, they still were being used as the power plants of some of our military planes. In the meantime, Germany, Italy, and England, to mention only the leaders, had brought out new motors.

In one wartime month, this country produced more than 24,000 engines for military planes. In January of this year, that same industry produced on order 23 conventional motors. Strikes prevented production of about 25 of other types.

In 1933, the annual production of military aircraft engines touched its between-war low—588.

Most Not Repeat
A little more than a year ago, Robert M. Lovett, then assistant secretary of war for air, summed up the comparative picture in these words:

"We have the advantage of a shining example of what not to do. We find it in the period following the first World War. Surplus Liberty engines (then) choked off our aircraft industries and development until we fell way behind the procession."

This problem of surpluses continued through 1933, 14 years after the last war, and in 1928 brought a formal protest from the War Department, pointing out that engine development for the air corps had been seriously handicapped by the existence of this surplus hanging over the market.

There were 3,000 Liberty engines still on hand at that date. 10 years after the war. We cannot afford to repeat such mistakes."

Plenty Remain
Three of the major airlines at had been destroyed by fire, announced that a new and larger one would be erected.

Mrs. S. G. Rosenberg entertained members of her bridge club at her home on Hane avenue. Miss Elizabeth Hopkins of Cleveland was a club guest.

Swank and the Ball Parks

GET me a table up front at the ball game?
"How's about a reservation for six at the double-header? And will you put on four cases of champagne?" Never mind who's pitching what I wanna know is who's in the floorshow.

These may be routine cracks in American league ball parks this season. Two private club rooms with bars and 400 boxes to which members only will be admitted will be a feature of the games at Yankee Stadium.

The boxes and club rooms will be open to members paying from $500 to $500 a season, and most of the memberships have already been grabbed by bankers, brokers, business men, theatrical men, etc.

Thus will exclusiveness, social distinctions be introduced to that stronghold of democracy, the American national game of baseball. Down through baseball history the millionaire has rubbed elbows with the street cleaner at the ball parks. "Take your coat off, let your hair down, relax and be one of the gang!" has been the traditional cry.

All men may not have been positive they were equal but at the ball game they felt close to it than anywhere else.

And now—of all places—the baseball park is to find class consciousness, the upper and lower levels of society, financial distinction and a touch of the night club and country club flavor. One club room will be modernistic with chromi-um fixtures and red leather chairs; the other will carry the mood of an old English inn of the head-on-Finchley type. The bar and restaurant will be a deluxer.

Bleacher fans arise!
Are ya gonna stand for these distinctions between the club house set and the peasantry at the ball game?

Are ya gonna take your hotdogs, peanuts and lemon-soda lying down while the upper-stater move swankily about their nifty boxes and club rooms sipping Planters' Punches and Mint Juleps, and eating guinea hen a la Louis XIV?

Revolt! To the ramps! We want fights between ball players, not between members of safe society! We demand that the sliding be done by the base-runners, not by the champagne buyers!

We wanna know that when we hear the cry "Take that bum out!" it is being directed at a wild pitcher, not at a wild socialite!

We demand that the bottle of beer, the pop bottle, the frankfurter and the cause of democracy remain intact at American baseball parks, never to give way to the breast of chicken under glass, the magnum of vintage wine, safe society, the gossip column and special privileges for the bourbons!

Bleacherites, arise!
President Truman says the UNO charter needs teeth. And not the false kind, either!

Henry Wallace favors tossing out of office a member of Congress who doesn't vote strictly on party lines. He thinks independent thinking should be plowed under.

KIPLING REVISED

Shedding

By Truman Twill

The change from heavy to light protection from weather, called shedding, is borrowed from the lower animals, who have a marked advantage. They do it sensibly, it costs them nothing to replace what they lose, and they have no worry about moths.

In the case of man, shedding is emotional. He makes a celebration of the fact it is warm enough to take off his long underwear and spend the next week under the doctor's care.

The shedding at the Twillery is unusually advanced for so early in the season. Five pairs of winter mittens and three knitted mufflers already are gone forever. They were shed on back steps, tree branches and running boards of automobiles.

Out of a total of four pairs of galoshes, one pair has disappeared entirely, two are half gone and only one pair is still intact. This is not a set loss, however, because one stray pair has been acquired and half of another pair is in sight, two lots away.

Stocking caps and winter headgear of the type in vogue for the younger generation also have disappeared, and not a minute too soon. It is suspected that they were thrown down sewer gratings, which will save wiser heads the trouble, if true.

The supply of cast-off windbreakers and snow suits seems intact as to numbers, but many of the worse for wear. These articles of clothing have been scarce during the war. They have been swapped back and forth by families with growing children until children are beginning to look as shopworn as their garments. A motion to shed a lot of this stuff permanently would be in order.

There also is adult shedding. Women's winter hats, for example, which are stuffed away in boxes and drawers so they can be taken out next fall and used as evidence that it is time to get a new hat.

The shedding of bed clothing is part of the game, a rough part. There comes a time when some of the bed clothing must go. But where does it go? Why must it be hidden so carefully that a half-frozen sleeper who doily goes looking for a blanket when the weather turns cold overnight can find nothing but sheets?

And apropos of things disappearing, what causes wool socks always to be two inches shorter in the fall than in the spring when they are shed? Also, who notifies the moths that the wool dresses and wool overcoats with two of three years of wear left in them are hanging unguarded in the closet, waiting to be eaten?

When warm weather comes, cold weather never is far behind—probably not more than 24 hours. Shedding wouldn't be any fun if it didn't catch us shivering inside a cold radiator and cursing the building that led to the catching of the worst cold of the winter—a few days after the beginning of spring.

Iran Leader Says Reds Withdrawing

By The Associated Press
TEHRAN, March 27—Princess Mojarraf Firouz, political under-secretary of state and director of propaganda said today that the Russian evacuation of Kazvin, 80 miles northwest of Tehran, "has begun and should be completed within three or four days."
 United States and British diplomatic officials said, however, that despite Russian troop movements northward they were not yet sure that the Red army intended to withdraw completely from the semi-autonomous Iranian province of Azerbaijan.
 Firouz denied that any "secret agreement" existed between Iran and the Soviet Union concerning the Russian evacuation.
 An Iranian general staff officer said there have been no reports that any Russian troops actually had crossed the Iranian frontier into the Soviet Union.
 Some observers here forecast the possibility that the Russian columns now streaming northward might withdraw only as far as Azerbaijan, which borders in the USSR. These sources said the Russians might support this action by maintaining that the province is no longer a part of Iran.

A MARION LADY SPIT UP ACID LIQUIDS FOR HOURS AFTER EATING

For hours after every meal, a Marion lady used to spit up a strong acidulous liquid mixed with pieces of half-digested food. She says it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle. She had stomach bloating, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Today, this lady eats her meals and enjoys them. And she says the change is due to taking ERB-HELP. Her food agrees with her. No gas, bloating or spitting up after eating. She is also free of headaches now, and bowels are regular, thanks to this Remarkable New Compound.

RUSSIA TO GIVE JAP PUPPET TO CHINESE

By The Associated Press
CHUNGKING, March 27—Russia agreed today to release Henry Pu-Yi, former puppet governor of Manchuria, to China as this country's vice minister of foreign affairs reported the recently tense Sino-Soviet situation had "eased."
 Liu Chieh, the vice minister, was asked by correspondents if the crisis in relations between China and Russia had passed.
 "I don't think I can make any categorical statement," he replied. "We've never given up hope. No one can say now that the situation is on a very sound basis."
 K. C. Wu, minister of information, said the Russians had agreed to give Pu-Yi, after protracted negotiations. It generally is assumed that the former Japanese puppet will be tried as a war criminal.
 Liu said China had accepted Russia's offer to withdraw her troops from Manchuria by the end of April, but the foreign office is not yet able to state the extent to which the process is under way. The Russians have notified China of withdrawal only from Mukden and Fushun.
 It was announced officially that the Sino-American military committee had directed executive headquarters in Peking to send three teams into Manchuria to halt fighting between Government and Communist troops. The order instructed the teams to stay clear of Russian-occupied areas.

VINSON BACKS OPA, SEES LEVEL BUDGET

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 27—Secretary of the Treasury Vincent said today that "we are well on the way to a balanced budget" and asked that OPA controls on the national economy be kept "a little longer."

"Today we can be more optimistic about the future than ever before," Vinson told the house banking committee. "It would be pathetic if we missed this grand opportunity."
 The committee is considering legislation to keep OPA going another year.

Vinson said treasury receipts were larger than estimated, expenditures were smaller than expected, and "the two together mean that we are well on the way to a balanced budget."

He disputed contentions of the National Association of Manufacturers and others that removal of all price controls would stimulate production of scarce goods.

It would be stimulating, stimulating in a fanciful, dizzy sort of way," he said.

Despite the nation's "sound and pleasant" financial picture, Vinson said, "taxes must remain high."

Federal expenditures in February dropped to $3,500,000,000 from last June's high of $9,700,000,000, he reported.

"We have built up a tremendous demand for new consumer goods. This demand is backed up by large savings. The amount of currency, bank deposits, and United States securities owned by all non-bank investors has increased from about $82,000,000,000 at the end of 1939 to about $300,000,000,000 today."

BRUTAL SCHEME LAID TO VON RIBBENTROP

By The Associated Press
MUENBERG, March 27—Unexpected prosecution evidence that Joseph von Ribbentrop urged "extermination or concentration camp" for Hungary's half million Jews in 1943 brought from a defense witness before the international military tribunal today a declaration that the former German foreign minister "blindly followed Hitler's orders."

The prosecution presented captured minutes of a Hitler conference with Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungarian regent, on April 17, 1943, which quoted Horthy's complaint that hundreds of thousands of Jews had been "deprived of all possibilities of livelihood" and had become a burden on the state.

Hitler, the minutes said, called these Jews "tuberculosis bacilli" and Von Ribbentrop was quoted as stating they should "either be exterminated or taken to a concentration camp."

The defense witness on the stand, Adolf Von Steengracht, former first secretary in the Nazi foreign office, looked at the document when it was handed him by British Col. H. J. Phillimore and remarked:

"I would like to make a distinction between Von Ribbentrop's instructions and what he did when he became Hitler's hypnotized tool."

Von Steengracht also said the former foreign minister must have agreed with Heinrich Himmler in October, 1943, for the "eastward evacuation" a synonym for gas chamber extermination of foreign Jews trapped in German-occupied lands.

Degnan Case Tipster Found Dead in Fire

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 27—Gloria Williams, 22-year-old blond waitress who once created a flurry of excitement by declaring she possessed information concerning the unsolved Degnan kidnap-murder, was found dead today in a smoke filled room on the north side.

Police Lieutenant John Boland said Miss Williams apparently died of suffocation in a fire started from a cigarette.

Miss Williams, picked up by Sheboygan, Wis., police on a vagrancy charge, told them she had fled from Chicago in terror after overhearing a tavern patron discuss the kidnap slaying of Suzanne Degnan, ex, on Jan. 7, as though having knowledge of the crime. Returned to Chicago to face the man, she was unable to identify him or give any information about the mystery.

SPY

The warrant was issued last Friday.

There was no announcement of how the young Russian officer had obtained the documents and plans or whom the officer had "induced" to obtain the information.

It was disclosed that the ship Rodin was preparing to board was the floating cannery, the SS Alma Ata, which had undergone a year-long, $2,000,000 refurbishing in the Oregon harbor and which reportedly had been ready to sail for several weeks.

The ship has been lying at the Columbia basin terminal waiting for a letter of credit to release a load of 300,000 pounds of sisal rope purchased by the Soviet government from the War Assets Corp. The necessary papers arrived Tuesday and loading of the vessel began immediately. Agents halted the Russian officer as he boarded the vessel shortly after 6 p. m. (PST) (9 p. m. EST).

Rodin, who became head of the Soviet purchasing commission of office Seattle after the staff was cutailed at the end of the war, was described as active socially among other Russians in Seattle but little known to Americans there.

Main Pacific coast officers of the purchasing commission were located at Portland during the war. It was from there that some $1,750,000 worth of lend-lease goods were shipped to the Soviet Union for the war first against Germany and finally against Japan.

One of the main projects in the $2,000,000 atomic bomb development is located in adjoining Washington state. It is the mammoth Hanford plutonium production plant. Plutonium is the element used in the bomb.

Legion Aims Outlined in Talk Here by State, National Leader

Speaking principally to the young members of the American Legion, those who are veterans of World War II, Martin V. Coffey of Middletown explained what the Legion is and what the members must do in order to carry on the tradition of the Legion which has been established, when he addressed members of the Legion at a meeting Tuesday night in the Legion Dugout.

Mr. Coffey is past department commander of the Ohio American Legion, past national vice commander, and at present is a member of the national executive committee.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis post were guests and other Legion members in the county attended. Approximately 175 persons were present.

Legion Responsibility

Mr. Coffey said that democracy, prosperity, and decency of the nation must depend largely on the interest shown by the Legion, as large proportion of the veterans of the war are members of the organization. He said that in his opinion and in the opinion of other Legion officers, the United Nations Organization must continue to operate through the years to come if there is to be peace in the world.

Scientific research from the military as well as the industrial standpoint must be continued, if we want the country to remain peaceful, he declared. He said the Legion is urging congress to establish military intelligence in this country and to train young men in this work.

Mr. Coffey said the Legion could see no other means for salvation in this country in the future than to have some form of universal military training. He said the United States must be ready in case it is ever attacked in the future.

STAFF OF GI PAPER IRKED, ASKS TO QUIT

By The Associated Press
ROME, March 27—The entire staff of the Mediterranean edition of the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes requested reassignment today after six weeks of struggle over censorship of the servicemen's letter column with Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, theater commander.

Gen. Lee in a verbal order yesterday relieved from duty Maj. Hal C. Kestler, Waucoma, Iowa, the officer in charge of Stars and Stripes.

Kestler said three junior officers and 51 enlisted men on the paper had sought transfers as a result, and that he had asked for an Army court of inquiry to investigate his administration.

Kestler addressed a letter to Gen. Lee through Brig. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., commanding the Rome area, saying that he welcomed relief from duty which "because of repeated affronts to my ability, character and intelligence, has now become intolerable."

MEDIATORS BLAME WESTINGHOUSE OFFER

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 27—Government-appointed mediators in the 71-day old strike of 75,000 Westinghouse Electric Corp. employees reported today that Labor-Schwabach last night the company's position made further mediation "impossible."

The mediators, Arthur S. Meyer and William H. Davis, said Westinghouse made a wage increase proposal March 19 to the CIO electrical workers and has refused either to continue negotiations or to meet with the union unless the offer is accepted "in full" at the present time. The two mediators declared the time remaining this month was "insufficient for a reasonable negotiation or mediation of the many provisions of the company's proposal."

Davis, a former chairman of the National War Labor Board, and Meyer, head of the New York state mediation board, withdrew from the case on March 22.

ARMY CASTE SYSTEM PROBE TO BE SECRET

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 27—Army caste system, headed by Lt. James H. Doolittle, decided today to hear behind closed doors complaints of ex-GIs about Army's so-called officer caste system.

Starting an investigation ordered by Secretary of War Patterson, Doolittle told reporters the group felt that witnesses would speak more freely in private than in public hearings. Patterson advised the board that it was a "free hand."

New grips already have been put up, Doolittle disclosed. One of these is a complaint that the board itself was "packed" with four officers and no privates, included in its membership.

Doolittle, wartime commander of the Eighth Air Force, noted, however, that "every one" who has served as a private in the members left the Army as a result.

Witnesses will be heard tomorrow and Doolittle said the board hoped to wind up the inquiry within six weeks.

"We plan first to call on enlisted men who think they have complaints and then some of the officers they have complained against," he said.

The long list of witnesses ranged all the way up to generals, but among those invited from the ranks are cartoonist Bill Mauldin and author Marion Harpin. Both lampooned military "brats" before and after they donned their uniforms.

SENATE GROUP PUTS OKAY ON VARDAMAN

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 27—A senate banking subcommittee today recommended confirmation of Commodore James K. Vardaman Jr. for a 14-year term on the Federal Reserve board of governors.

Chairman Radcliffe (D-Vt.) informed the full banking committee that the subcommittee had voted without dissent in favor of confirmation, with Senator Butler (R-Veb) not participating.

Radcliffe said serious charges had been made against Vardaman, President Truman's naval aide, and these had been "studied very carefully" and at great length by the subcommittee.

"We have come to the conclusion that the charges were not sustained," Radcliffe said. Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) acting as chairman of the full banking committee, expressed pleasure at the subcommittee action and said the full committee would consider the nomination "at the earliest possible moment."
